Description

This charming and rustic Nelson Design Group cabin house plan is perfect for anyone looking for a home to compliment the beauty of nature around it.

A large wrap around porch with stone based columns compliments the board and batten siding wonderfully, while accents of shake siding truly set this design apart. All these elements are brought together by the beautiful metal roofing that completes the rustic appeal of this home plan.

The front porch will welcome friends and family into your home where they will find themselves in the spacious great room. Here they are met with a beautiful stone fireplace and the stairs leading to the upper floor.
